The Connecticut Valley street railway company now has an office at 309 Washington street, Boston, where it will distribute advertising matter and arrange for excursions. There are many inquiries for special cars from parties who wish to come out here by the steam cars and make trips over Western Massachusetts trolley lines. Special car rates are to be changed this spring, and on the whole reduced. A map of the valley with other descriptive matter is to be issued free and such literature will be placed in boxes on each car for the convenience of the public.
